

PHILLIPS HAS WON HIS SUIT

McClure Publishing Company Must Pay For Libel Against Milwaukee Man.

BAKERS ARTICLE WAS DISPROVED

Federal Grand Jury Gives Him Fifteen Thousand Dollars Damages--Case Was Tried In New York City This Past Week.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New York, March 27.—Rumors that L. Phillips, President of the Union Refrigerator and Transit Company of Milwaukee, was this morning awarded damages to the amount of fifteen thousand dollars by the federal grand jury against the McClure Publishing Company, defendant.

Echo of Campaign
This suit was based upon statements which were published in the McClure's magazine by Ray Stannard Baker in which Phillips' company was alleged to have received unlawful contributions. It was an echo of the last La Follette campaign in Wisconsin when the article was used for political purposes.

"Private Grafter"
The case was charged before Judge Thayer of the United States circuit court. Libelous publications were alleged in magazines of the firm in the years of 1905 and 1906 in which Phillips was charged with being a "private grafter" and being a lobbyist and rebater.

Sealed Verdict
Judge Thayer instructed the jury to bring in a verdict for damages to the plaintiff, leaving the amount to be assessed to their judgment. The terms grafter and lobbyist were held to be offensive and subject to damages for being so published.

Decided Victory
The verdict is a decided victory for Mr. Phillips and entirely repudiates the articles in McClure's which were, it is alleged, written for campaign purposes to belittle the cause of the men who opposed the reelection of La Follette for the Governorship.

Charged With Theft
The case was charged before Judge Thayer of the United States circuit court. Libelous publications were alleged in magazines of the firm in the years of 1905 and 1906 in which Phillips was charged with being a "private grafter" and being a lobbyist and rebater.

OPEN-LIBRARY ON SUNDAY A SUCCESS

Opportunity of Using Beloit Reading and Reference Rooms on Sabbath Embraced by Many.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Beloit, Wis., March 27.—It is announced here today that the reading and reference rooms of the Beloit public library are to be kept open Sunday afternoons during every winter. The plan was tried this winter and proved so successful that it will be continued. As Sunday work cannot be expected from the regularly paid librarians several members of the Men's club of St. Paul's Episcopal church volunteered to take charge on Sabbath days. Their offer was accepted by the library board and the library has been open every Sunday since last November. The attendance on an average was forty-nine and on stormy days was exceedingly large. The largest number of Sunday patrons are shopmen who find it impossible to use the library week days.

Militia Company Stands High
General Charles King, who inspected Company L, Wisconsin National Guards, here last evening pronounced the organization equal to any thus far inspected in the state and above all but one. As the Fond du Lac company, which is considered the crack company of Wisconsin, has already been inspected by the Beloit militiamen are feeling exceedingly jubilant. One of the officers of this company is Charles Buck, formerly of Janesville, who holds the commission of second lieutenant. General King severely criticized the Beloit army.

High School Students Excited
Students of the Beloit high school are split in two factions today and excitement runs high over the annual medal and declamatory contest which will be held this evening. Among the six competitors selected for the event are two who seem to be considered sure winners of first and second place—Arthur Karstend and Thomas Gharrity. The Gharrity supporters, it is said, want Karstend to withdraw as he will go to Annapolis Naval academy after graduation and thus already stands highly honored. Last evening it was agreed that the winner of first place should represent Beloit in the Rock county declamatory contest but the winner of second place should take the medal. This morning Gharrity called off the agreement.

BROUGHT TOTAL TO OVER ONE MILLION

Pittsburg Bank Officials Held for Exceeding Large Thefts of Bank's Funds.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Pittsburg, Pa., March 27.—The third charge against Henry Huber, paying teller, and John Young, auditor of the Farmers' Deposit National bank, was made today by Bank Examiner Folger. The former employee, who is in jail charged with misappropriation of the funds of the bank amounting to $1,105,000, according to persistent rumors and information against the manner of business in this and other cities will be made shortly. It is understood that the two men were locked up in the cellars of the building for forty-eight hours before they "came through" and confessed to the thefts they are charged with. The disclosure was most sensational and followed an admission of a loss of $85,000 by the bank officials. The men are alleged to have confessed they lost the money by speculation.

SOCIALIST THEATER IN NEW YORK CITY

Julius Hopp Starts Theatre on East Third Street in New York City.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] New York, March 27.—Cosmopolitan New York has long had its Yiddish, Chinese, Hungarian and Italian playhouses, but it has remained for Julius Hopp, a well-known resident of the Lower East Side, to give to the metropolis a Socialist theatre in this city. Manager Hopp, who has long struggled to establish a Socialist theatre in this city, has found a home for his endeavors in a small playhouse in East Third Street, where the initial performance is scheduled for tonight. Three one-act Socialist dramas make up the bill. They are "The Moral Demand," by Otto Erich Hartleben; "Their Daughter," by Andre Tardou; and "The Dolls," by Mr. Hopp himself.

FAMOUS ARCTIC EXPLORER PLACED ON RETIRED LIST

Major General Greeley Reaches Age Limit After Long Period Of Service.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Washington, D. C., March 27.—Major General Adolphus W. Greeley, the famous Arctic explorer, for whom of whose whereabouts the Congress of the United States once offered a reward of $25,000, was placed on the retired list of the army today for age.

General Greeley is now in the Orient on leave of absence. His last command was that of the department of Dakota, with headquarters at St. Paul, where he was recently succeeded by Brigadier General Winfield S. Edgerly. For if any officers of the United States army have enjoyed such a wide measure of fame during recent years as has General Greeley. It is now something more than a quarter of a century ago that he attracted world-wide attention by a polar expedition, of which he was the chief. This expedition sailed northward in 1881. It contained twenty-five members, of whom only seven came back. Two relief expeditions failed to find the Greeley party, and when finally rescued by the third expedition, sent under the command of Captain Winfield S. Schley, the survivors of the party were nearly crazed with hunger. At the time he made this expedition, the polar sea was a frozen sea. The expedition reached a point farther north than any previous record.

Before going to the Arctic Lieutenant Greeley had built thousands of miles of military telegraph lines in Texas and the southwest and had acted as an officer of the signal corps, then commanded by Brigadier General J. M. Myers. The latter organized the corps, which was afterward commanded by Brigadier General W. B. Hazen, and later, following the death of Gen. Hazen, in 1886, by the returned Arctic hero, who had been made a captain in the regular course of regimental promotions in the 6th cavalry.

General Greeley had the distinction of being the first man who entered the Civil War as a private soldier to be promoted to the rank of brigadier general. He was born in Newburyport, Mass., March 27, 1844, and received a common school education. In 1861, when but a few months over seventeen years of age, he enlisted as a private and became a member of the 1st Rhode Island. Greeley continued with his command until March, 1863. When a call was made for non-commissioned officers to officer the colored troops then being organized, Sergeant Greeley was one of the number to respond, and was commissioned as first lieutenant in the Fifty-first.

Prior to going to the department of Dakota General Greeley was in command of the military division of the Pacific and in this position he directed the army relief measures at the time of the San Francisco earthquake and fire.

He entered the regular army as a second lieutenant in March, 1867, and was promoted to first lieutenant in 1872. As evidence of the showiness of promotion in the army at that time is the fact that he served thirteen years as a first lieutenant before securing promotion, and during that period attracted the favorable attention of the world by his efforts to gain new knowledge of the Arctic zone.

Between 1876 and 1879 General Greeley proved himself to be one of the most untiring workers in the army. During that period he constructed 2,000 miles of military telegraph in Texas, Montana and Dakota. This unprecedented feat made him a marked man in American military circles. Then came the expedition to the far north. In 1881, in pursuance of the recommendation of the Hamburg International geographical congress, he was given command of the United States expedition to establish one of a chain of thirteen circumpolar stations. The trying experiences of Greeley and his little band are well known to all readers of history.

During and after the Spanish war General Greeley had a further opportunity to show his great ability as a builder of telegraph lines. Under his immediate direction there were built and operated 1,000 miles in Porto Rico, 3,800 miles in Cuba, 250 miles in China during the Boxer outbreak and 10,500 miles of lines and cables in the Philippines. He afterwards installed a system of 3,000 miles of telegraph lines in Alaska, one of these lines being the first wireless system to be put to commercial use.

One of General Greeley's most brilliant achievements was the reorganization of the present efficient base of the national weather bureau. Previous to his incumbency the service was of a most crude and untrustworthy character. He began at once to gather meteorological data from every reliable source, and in the course of time he was able to arrive at something definite. He established a complete system of weather stations in various parts of the country and lifted the service from the plane of ridicule to that of respectability.

Prior to going to the department of Dakota General Greeley was in command of the military division of the Pacific and in this position he directed the army relief measures at the time of the San Francisco earthquake and fire.

EXPLOSION CAUSED FIRE; FLOOD PUT OUT THE FLAMES

Saloon Blaze Started and Then Put Out by the Flow of Water Which Followed.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Fond du Lac, Wis., March 27.—An explosion, fire and flood followed each other in quick succession early today in the saloon of Downey & O'Rourke at North Fond du Lac and by a queer happening the flood put out the fire. The steam pipes became closed and the boiler burst, causing an explosion which broke windows and did other damages. It blew the stove to pieces and the burning fuel started the fire, then a piece of the stove was blown into the elaters causing the flood, which of itself put out the flames. The total damage was one hundred and five dollars.

STARTED A FIRE IN AN APPLETON HOME

Appleton Home Is Invaded by Firebug but the Efforts Filled by the Owner.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Appleton, Wis., March 27.—An incendiary entered the home of Mrs. Paul Krauss at three o'clock this morning and started a fire in the five beds upstairs and in every room on the first floor. Mr. and Mrs. Krauss had not been living together for several weeks and a divorce suit is pending. Mrs. Krauss owns the house, but lives in it only during the day. The house was destroyed, entailing a loss of eight hundred dollars. The police have a clue and arrests will be made in a day or two.

CHOSE FOUR BEST SPEAKERS THURSDAY

Extemporaneous Speakers Picked Who Will Compete for the Recorder Medal.

Yesterday afternoon the third preliminary contest in extemporaneous speaking was held in the high school building before the entire school. The four best from each class who were in the contest and their subjects were: Graham McLeay—Aerial Navigation; Mable Keesey—Our Navy; William Hyde—Control of Railroads; Hazel H. Peterson—Yellow Journalism; Should H. Heppner—Waste of Our Resources; Joseph Jones—Progress of Art and Architecture in America; Nathan Blodgett, John Underwood—Causes of the Recent Panic; Roger Cunningham—Political Candidates for the Presidency; Leo Atwood—Improvements in Agriculture; Mayme Spohn—Now Era in Health; The three judges—Superintendent C. H. Hemmingsway, H. S. Lovejoy and R. M. Smith—appointed by Prof. Buell, prepared their votes separately and on comparing found that each one had chosen the same four for the first four places. Those chosen were Leo Atwood, Marian Blodgett, William Hyde and Mayme Spohn. Interviews with a large number of pupils this morning failed to disclose any who heard the alleged bludge which is supposed to have greeted the decision of the judges and all expressed themselves as well satisfied with it.

Entertained School
This morning the school was called at eight-thirty in order to hear Mr. Fred Canale, who entertained the school with a Victor phonograph and a number of very fine records, among which were "The Merry Widow" and "The Merry Widow" and a parody on it. These records are very fine and some of them very valuable. Mr. Canale was allowed to depart on the promise of returning soon.

OBITUARY.

Thomas Francis Heagney
After three days' illness with pneumonia, Thomas Francis Heagney passed away last night. The deceased was born in New York city in 1859 and came to Janesville in 1871. One year later he entered the employ of the Chicago & North-Western railway company and had served that corporation since. Among his fellow workers he was popular and widely known and was one of the charter members of Bower City Local, No. 35, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen & Engineers. In fraternal life he was also a Knight of Columbus. In 1882 Mr. Heagney was married, his bride being Miss Katherine J. Croke, and seven children, born of this union, survive. They are Mrs. C. G. Sullivan and Miss Alice R. Miss Harriet M. Miss Gertrude M. Miss Calla S. Thomas F., Walter C., John and William Heagney of Janesville and James Heagney of Manila, Philippine Islands. Mrs. Arthur Brown Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Arthur Brown at her home, 453 West Van Buren street, Chicago, on Thursday morning. He leaves a husband and two daughters, a father and mother, four sisters and two brothers are left to mourn her loss. The funeral will be held on Saturday next at 1:30 from her late residence. The interment will be at the Forest Home cemetery. The family of the deceased made Janesville and the immediate vicinity their home for several years and her old friends will better remember her as Miss Carrie Holman.

Edward T. Hamner
The funeral of Edward T. Hamner was held this afternoon at twelve o'clock from his home near Shoppers and at two o'clock from the Episcopal Grove church. The Rev. Mr. Davidson conducted the funeral service and the pallbearers were J. P. Barless, Charles Yeomans, Wm. Reeder, Wm. Knappelman, E. J. Culver, and Leonard Vogel. The interment was in the Baccarat Grove cemetery.

Jeremiah Skyeihan
Mr. Jeremiah Skyeihan, who resided in Janesville in the early sixties, died at his home in Rockford. He was ill only a short time, being taken ill with erysipelas last Friday.

Mr. Skyeihan was born in Ireland in 1842 and came to this country when a small boy with his uncle's family, his parents having died. He settled first in Massachusetts and came from there to Janesville and afterwards settled in Rockford. He leaves to mourn his loss a widow and two sons, Fred and Benjamin, both of Rockford. Mrs. John Streed left yesterday for Rockford to attend the funeral, he being her uncle.

On Trail of Druggists: Sometime ago a Mr. Scott of the state dairy and food commission visited several of the local pharmacists and bought samples of several drugs which were taken to Madison and analyzed to ascertain whether or not they were up to standard. Everything appears to have been alright excepting the camphor from one or two places, which was found to be a few points "off" in strength. Mr. Scott came here this week to see about beginning a prosecution but the matter was so trivial that the local court and officers endeavored to discourage him. What will be the outcome remains to be seen.

Brotherhood Dinner: The Men's Brotherhood of the Presbyterian church will enjoy their regular monthly dinner at the church tonight. An interesting program has been prepared.

End of Term: Flags were displayed at all the school buildings today as this is the last day of the school term of the school year. Next week will be vacation for all schools.

Kicked by Horse: While driving a cart belonging to the Keweenaw Brewery last yesterday afternoon John Molinger, a twelve year old youth, got too close to the horse's heels and was kicked. The horse hoof cut a gash over his right eye about an inch long which it required several stitches to close.

Ben Hurs Entertain: At the conclusion of their meeting last night the members of the local Ben Hurs lodge prepared a social program in honor of Jerome Howland's 84th birthday. Mr. Howland has for many years been a faithful servant in the capacity of janitor of the East Side Odd Fellows' hall and in spite of his advanced years he is still hale and hearty. After a few well chosen words J. E. Carl presented him with a fine gold-headed cane in token of their friendship and esteem in which he is held. After the program had been dispersed the friends and members partook of an elaborate banquet, much to the satisfaction of all. The Ben Hurs are doing their part in this great world of fraternality.

C. C. Shockey, freight agent of the Rockford & International Co., with headquarters at Rockford, was in Janesville today on business.

Some Weather Wisdom.
Red skies at sunset indicate fine weather, a bright yellow sky in the early evening denotes wind, a red sky in the morning betokens bad weather. Small, dark clouds foretell rain; generally the softer the clouds look, the less wind, but more rain may be expected. Fog is an indication of the weather; so is dew.

Woodmen of the World, Attention.
Regular meeting on Friday, March 27, at 7:30. All members should be there. Visiting sovereigns welcome. FRED J. BAKER, Clerk.

Where Law Doesn't Reach.
About 60 feet under the surface of the water, six miles off the coast of Florida, two Greek divers fought desperately for the possession of a big sponge. When one of them attempted to prosecute the other for injuries sustained in the fight he found that no court had jurisdiction over the bottom of the ocean.

WHERE ENGLISH JUSTICE ERRS.

American Variety Not Quite So Bad In Some Directions.

It is only a century since the death penalty was inflicted in England for theft not exceeding the value of a sheep. Now some of the London journals are making a merciless exposure of magistrates throughout the kingdom who keep up the tradition by sentencing petty thieves to jail, while inflicting only trifling fines upon wife beaters and even more brutal offenders. In one police court one defendant was fined $2.50 for knocking his wife down in the street because she refused to give him money for drink, and another was sentenced to 60 days' imprisonment for damaging growing potatoes and stealing two footballs. For cruelty to a horse, beating his wife, who was ill, with fist and hammer and leaving her with nothing to eat, one man was fined two dollars, while another, charged with stealing a pair of socks valued at 12 cents, got 14 days' hard labor. It would not be difficult to make up a list of similar cases from American police courts, yet the tendency in America is rather toward a higher estimate of the value of human life.—Van Norden Magazine.

American Oak Staves Best.
Spanish grapegrowers prefer American oak staves for barrels, claiming that no other wood is so good for the preservation of fruit.

NEW AMERICAN POULTRY FENCE

This Fence, with its close mesh, hinge joint, fills a long felt want among poultry raisers, farmers and all users of fence as it is the best all around fence on the market. More miles of this fence are used on American farms than all other styles of wire fence combined.

At the bottom are four spaces 1 1/2 inch each and the next four spaces above are 2 inches each, the high spaces graduate to six inches as shown in cut. The fence is proving absolutely satisfactory in fencing poultry and at the same time equally efficient in turning stock.

We have it in three sizes, at prices 40c, 45c and 50c a rod.

ELEGY ON THE DEATH OF A MAD DOG

(This famous poem by Oliver Goldsmith is worth reading today.)

Good people all, of every sort,
Give ear unto my song;
And if you find it wondrous short—
It cannot hold you long.

In Belington there was a man,
Of whom the world might say,
That still a golly race he ran,
Whene'er he went to pray.

A kind and gentle heart he had,
To comfort friends and foes;
The naked every day he clad,
When he put on his clothes.

And in that town a dog was found,
As many dogs there be,
Both mongrel, puppy, whelp and hound,
And curs of low degree.

This dog and man at first were friends;
But when a plague began,
The dog, to gain some private ends,
Went mad and bit the man.

Around from all the neighboring streets,
The wondering neighbors ran,
And swore the dog had lost his wits,
To bite so good a man.

The wound it seemed both sore and sad,
To every Christian eye;
And while they swore the dog was mad,
They swore the man would die.

But soon a wonder came to light,
That showed the rogues they lied;
The man recovered of the bite,
THE DOG IT WAS THAT DIED.

Just at this time the above seems very timely. It is one of the poems read in the long ago that comes in just at this time. While there seems to be some doubt in the minds of many whether the dogs in and about Janesville really had hydrophobia or not, it is certain they had something which does not go well with the human system when inoculated with its virus. The muzzling ordinance and the killing off of a number of dogs of doubtful ownership and parentage has had its results and if the council would continue its good work by placing a tax on all dogs in the city it would be a step in the right direction.

SENHOR FRANCO'S WANDERINGS

The plight of Senhor Franco, the fallen dictator of Portugal, is truly pitiable, writes Mr. Lucien Wolf in "The Graphic." One thinks of the brand of Cain when one hears of his feverish wanderings, prematurely aged by the weight of his terrible responsibility, the curses of a widowed Queen ringing in his ears, dogged, perhaps, by assassins, haunted certainly by the slaughtered victims of his statecraft. He must often think bitterly of the cynic who said that a dictatorship, like a revolution, has only one justification—Success. There have been other dictators who have ended their days in the reverence and even love of their people. The late King Christian of Denmark was a dictator of quite the Stuart type. The Emperor Francis Joseph has more than once governed by Imperial decree when the paralysis of Parliament threatened to bring the mechanism of today the most venerated figure in the circle of European royalty.

This Anna Gould-Castellano episode is becoming tiresome. Let her marry the Prince De Sagan and be done with it. Old Jay Gould would turn over in his grave if he knew all the trouble his money has made in this world.

Now that Illinois has endorsed Cannon for the presidential nomination, the Illinois leaders start out that he will be elected. Hughes has New York, Knox has Pennsylvania and Taft has Ohio. Why does not the same argument hold good in their cases?

Sherbie Becker, the boy mayor of Milwaukee, is keeping a scrap book with all the things written about him throughout the state. Some of them will be far from pleasant reading when he comes to look them over to select good campaign endorsement.

Chicago is going to restrict the use of revolvers so that the thugs can not get them. This is all right, but if a man wants a revolver he will get it just as easily as a man with a third can be satisfied in a no-license community—if he knows how.

So Mr. Taggart did not control the Indiana Indians as well as he expected. He ought to have a few lessons from the old Mamees, who used to control all sorts of elections down in that country before the white man came.

They say now that Rose is again to be defeated. Well, they have said that many times before and Prince will know he has been a good hot campaign when he gets through with the campaign.

Taft's stock has not dropped a bit since his boom first started. Neither has Bryan's, and both are certain to be the candidates of their respective party.

Rhode Island has declared to send an unfrustrated delegation to Chicago to pick out the best man after they get there.

President Roosevelt's words are among the best sellers in the country. Everyone reads with attention his attacks on congress.

Is Kaiser Wilhelm making a mountain out of a hill or is it all a bluff on the part of some anxious diplomat who wants to hold onto his office.

Tariff reform germ appears to have been working slowly in the president's mind for some time past.

Cannon's boom was heard in Springfield yesterday despite the alarm of fire which broke up the republican state convention.

With the election but a few days away the would-be officeholders are busy laying their plans for the work they want to accomplish.

Local standard bearers of the political parties where there are no opposing candidates are satisfied with the primary election.

It is funny to hear the defeated candidates explaining what caused their downfall.

This sample of spring is pleasing, but the real article is wanted in quantity—not alone.

So Governor Davidson still waits upon the turn of the spring election before giving out his verdict.

Janesville dogs appear to be just as good as are the dogs raised in some other city.

Chicago has a dog show and a rose show—all in the same week.

Great Men Unhappily Mated:
It is an unfortunate truth that in many cases the wives of great men have little or no sympathy with their husbands' koudis. Haydn's wife was a notable example, for she was a bad-tempered, extravagant woman, and her husband used to say she did not care whether he was a musician or a shoemaker!

Historical Note.
Paris in the days of Caesar was a collection of mud huts and was called Lutetia, although its name should have been mud.

Labor in Literary Work.
"They say that literary men are not laborers," says the philosopher. "I wish people could see the callouses I have on my right hand, gained by banging on the edge of the table to knock the ink into the point of this fountain pen!"

Not Drifting

There is such a thing as drifting in business and professional life. Just leading along day by day, taking things as they come. Such a course does not get a man anywhere except nearer to the poorhouse. Dr. Richards in his Dental work is not a drifter.

He has a definite Policy. He works towards an end. That end is to please his every patient just a little better than his competitors.

Does this policy win?

The facts are, his Dental practice has grown during the last seven years until he has by far the largest Dental business in Janesville.

Good work will win out. Vigilant effort to avoid hurting also wins out.

Reasonable prices ought to appeal to your better judgment also.

Try him for your next Dental work, and you too will be convinced that he Makes Good.

FAR-KNOWN DIAMOND CUTTER VISITS HERE

C. Armenty, Wealthy New Yorker, Guest of George S. Parker Last Evening and This Morning.

C. Armenty, one of America's wealthiest and best known diamond cutters and polishers, was here from New York city last night and this morning as a guest of George S. Parker. He is on a western trip recuperating, and being an old acquaintance of Mr. Parker stopped off here for a visit. Mr. Armenty is a large buyer of diamonds in the rough, purchasing large quantities in South America, and up all the diamondiferous belt of the world. He has found it impossible to keep his cutters at work at the wages demanded in America and is compelled now to ship the uncut stones to Rotterdam, Holland, where the same work is done far more cheaply. Since this turn of affairs he has shipped thousands and thousands of dollars' worth of diamonds across the water.

W. OWEN THOMAS FAILED TO ARRIVE

Here Today to Take up the Automobile Factory Question—Is Possibly Delayed by Patents.

W. Owen Thomas, who was expected here from Chicago today to take up the proposition of establishing the automobile factory, had failed to put in an appearance at three o'clock this afternoon. S. M. Smith, one of the officers of the company, said that Mr. Thomas was doubtless delayed in clearing up the patent matters relating to the machine, all of which he wished to have clearly decided and understood before laying the plans before the directors. It is still expected that he will be here in a day or two.

A TELEGRAPH STORY TELLS FUNNY TALE

Dispatch from Omaha Describes Domestic Troubles of Family Named Nourse.

In a dispatch published in several morning papers under a Omaha date-line is a tale of domestic troubles of a Janesville family named Nourse. A careful examination of the dispatch for several years back and inquiry about the city fails to throw any light on the tale and it is doubtful if any such family ever lived here. The name may be a mistake and designate a family that formerly lived here, but who are now in the West. The dispatch is as follows:

"Ray Coleman, an actor and musician, who has a wife and child living in Buffalo, was today sentenced to thirty days on the rockpile on complaint of Ray Nourse and his mother, Mrs. Ida Nourse, of Janesville. Mrs. Nourse charged that Coleman eloped with his sister, Miss Anna Nourse, and that they were living together as man and wife. Coleman was occupying a room with the girl at the Merchants' hotel when arrested. She will be taken back to Janesville."

NICKELODEON OPENS TOMORROW.

The Nickelodeon theatre on West Milwaukee street opens with a matinee tomorrow afternoon and will present something entirely new in the moving picture line.

The inside has been entirely remodeled, the open chairs being used throughout, and the floor has been stained so that the entire picture can be seen from any part of the house without stretching. A new fireproof moving picture machine has been installed, an improved make which promises to give better results than heretofore. The front is all panel work, with two exits neatly arranged and presents an attractive appearance. Two exits have been placed in the rear.

LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

There will be a special meeting of Power City Lodge No. 385, B. of L. E. & P. at 7:30 this evening at their hall. Master J. McCarthy, Master of the lodge, will be present.

A special meeting of Knights of Columbus will be held in room 205 Jackson bldg., at 8 o'clock tonight. All members are requested to be present. W. H. Dougherty, Grand Knight.

New spring shirt waists, wash goods, hosiery, and gloves, are now ready in all the latest styles and patterns at extremely low prices. T. P. Burns.

Amateur night tonight at West Side. On Saturday, March 28th, a representative of Bauman & Spierling, New York's leading clock and suit manufacturers, will be at our store with a full line of ladies' and misses' suits and jackets, also a large showing of juvenile suits. He will take special measurements of any thing in his line you may select and will also dispose of a part of his sample line. If you contemplate buying a new Easter outfit you cannot afford to miss this opportunity as this line has the best reputation of any line in New York City for suits and jackets. Remember the date, Saturday, March 28th. T. P. Burns.

Amateur night tonight at West Side. Free lunch, hot potato pancakes, at P. E. Laubke's, 58 S. River St., tomorrow night. Good music.

HANDLED GOTHAM PANIC

William A. Nash, president of the Corn Exchange bank, probably did as much as any man in New York to put a stop to the recent panic. J. Pierpont Morgan alone excepted. When the flurry came on he was made chairman of the clearing house committee, and it fell mainly to him to pass upon the securities offered by banks in need of assistance, to decide which should be aided and which suspended. He was regarded by the other bankers as the balance wheel of the Wall street situation. Nor is this his first experience of a panic, for in 1903 he was one of five men who, as executive committee of the clearing house, had that panic in charge. His sound common sense, his keen business methods and his far-sighted mental vision in each case saved him from making any very grave blunders, and he came through both ordeals with flying colors.

Mr. Nash commenced life as messenger boy in the bank of which he is now president. He won his advancement step by step, through his own efforts, and 25 years from the day he entered the bank he was its president. It then had a capital of $1,000,000; now it has $8,000,000. He was the father of the branch system and the Corn Exchange was the first bank to open branches when the law was passed authorizing it to do so. To-day it has 22 branches and minor depositaries throughout the city of New York.

Mr. Nash holds the idea that hard work, no matter how intelligent, will never raise a man very much above his fellows, unless it is combined with the power of thinking for one's self and aiding his superiors with suggestions. A man who can do this can practically dictate his own terms in the banking world.

CHANCELLOR MAY RESIGN

Chancellor von Bülow, finding that it requires a man of more than the average attainments to fill the shoes of the late Prince Bismarck and to conduct the affairs of the German empire, is said to be on the point of retiring to private life. His uncompromising attitude towards the socialists, who are rapidly gaining in strength, has been the means of blocking many of the emperor's schemes and has caused the utmost difficulty in his getting the money he wants for an immense army. He has won for himself the hostility of some of the court favorites, because he has denounced their scandalous behavior, and he has even made enemies in the emperor's own household by his opposition to the marriage of the crown prince to the beautiful Cerilla, because she was the daughter of a Russian grand duchess whose escapades were the talk of all Europe. All this has reminded Germany that von Bülow was not so very impeccable himself when he was a young man, and that his marriage to the lovely Princess Camille was believed only after she had run away from Count Charles von Dönhoff, her rich but aged husband.

The princess found the rambling old Roman palace lonely with only her husband, a man old enough to be her grandfather, for company, and she was attracted by the young attaché of the German embassy.

Without any pretense at secrecy the princess left her husband and fled from Rome with her young lover. That of course terminated von Bülow's connection with the embassy, and few people would have given much for his chances of advancement in diplomatic life. The appealing charm of his wife, even then little more than a child, her rare beauty and their fidelity, coupled with von Bülow's own undoubted talents, kept him in the imperial favor, and he was sent from one embassy to another until he returned to Rome as German ambassador.

Roman society conveniently forgot the elopement, and von Bülow having married the lady when her husband had divorced her 11 years after the elopement, they were received into the most exclusive circles. The incident is now being recalled in Berlin society, however, and strong pressure is being brought to bear upon the emperor to induce him to dismiss his chancellor.

EX-SENATOR'S FLIGHT

Warner Miller, formerly United States senator from New York and once prominent in Republican politics as leader of the "Halfbrooks," has failed as a result of the Martinique disaster several years ago, "bankrupted by the acts of God and William Nelson Cromwell," as one of his friends expressed it.

He did not own a foot of land in Martinique, nor did he have a dollar invested there, yet the terrible explosion of natural forces that blew off the top of the mountain, whed a city from the face of the earth, laid waste the fields and caused much destruction among the shipping caused his ruin years later. Deeply interested in the Nicaragua canal project, Miller had invested much of his money in it. The United States had virtually decided to undertake the work. Miller stood to make a fortune. Then came the disaster, which brought with it the fear of similar outbreaks in Nicaragua. The Panama canal people had meantime come to their senses and were preparing to make an equitable bargain. The Nicaragua canal project was dropped and Miller was deeply involved. To meet his obligations he disposed of his pulp mill and lumber holdings and planned his flight to the Sierra Consolidated Gold Mining Co., a West Virginia corporation. He held about one-third of its total stock of $3,000,000, hoping to recover his standing through that, but the mines never became producing properties, although he held on for 12 years, and in the end it came to crash, bringing Miller down with it.

Miller first came into prominent notice when Senator Roscoe Conkling and Thomas C. Platt resigned their seats in the senate, to appeal to the people for their endorsement. They failed to receive the endorsement they sought, and Miller became senator to succeed Conkling. He never did anything remarkable in the senate, and retired almost as obscure a personage as when he entered.

TROUBLE IN INDIA

Lord Elgin, secretary of state of the colonies, is accused by the British press of being responsible for the latest ferment in the Transvaal by allowing the colonial legislature to treat British Indians as criminals and send them to jail if they refuse to register their finger prints and other marks of identification. Many of the proud-spirited high caste Indians have gone to jail rather than submit to such an indignity, and in a few days their "martyrdom" will be known all over India.

Just as the stories sent home by Indian residents of the Transvaal before the Boer war of the powerlessness of the British there brought on several uprisings and two rather serious wars on the northwest frontier, so the story of the treatment of these Indians now may be the cause of still more serious troubles.

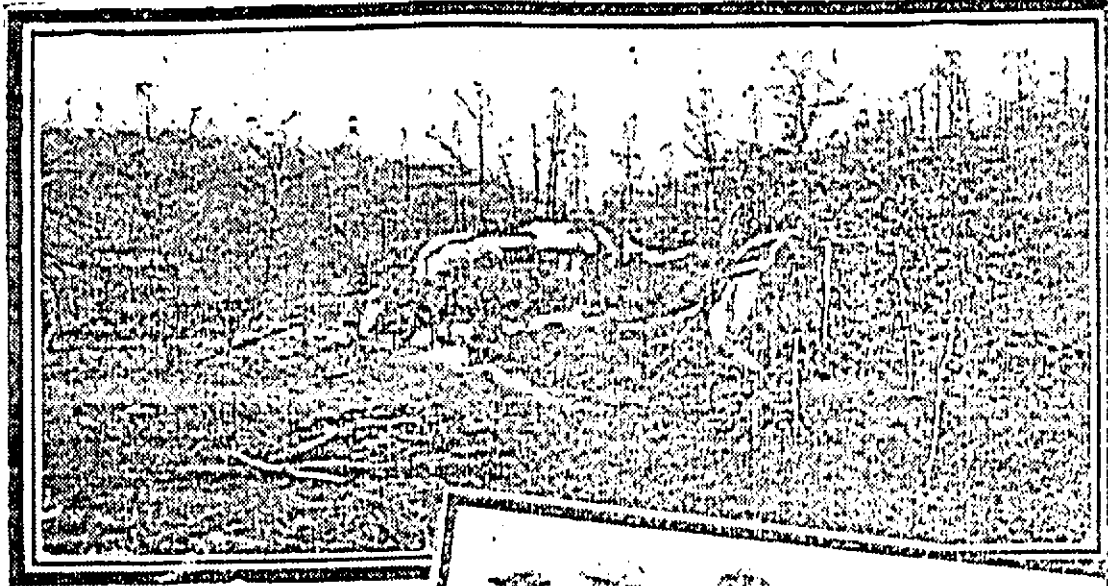

Lord Elgin is said to have explained that he was forced to consent to the registration law of the Transvaal on threat of a rebellion, but if he yielded to such a threat he shows himself to be a much weaker man than he was ten years ago when he was viceroy of India. The frontier was then in a disturbed state and the Afghans, stirred up by Russia, were committing outrages. Lord Elgin took upon himself the responsibility of sending an army to bring the disturbers to terms, which he did in short order.

Lord Elgin, although a Scotch nobleman and a descendant of an uncle of King Robert the Bruce, was born at Monklands near Montreal, while his father was governor general of Canada. The latter died in Canada when the present Lord Elgin was a lad of 14. The family had been in the British diplomatic service for generations, and the name was known all over the east.

Dig Blast. A single blast in Pennsylvania recently blew off 221,000 cubic feet of rock from a cliff, which is enough to keep several hundred men busy in a cement plant for three months.

Flowers Made Into Perfume. Perfume manufacturers of Italy every year consume 1,860 tons of orange blossom, 920 tons of roses, 150 tons each of jasminto and violets and 15 tons of jonquills.

Picture at top shows a modern Indian camp in Iowa. Picture below shows the Indian reservation band, composed of school children at the government school. Picture below that shows two typical chiefs of the Indian tribes of Iowa.

Iowa is the home of the famous Sac and Fox Indians. These tribes have lived in the Mississippi valley for generations, long before the white man discovered them and relegated them to the background. On the government reservation at Tama a great political strife is now engaging the attention of these Indians. Few realize the fact that these tribes have their political controversies, their "stand pat" parties, their own ruling officers and to a certain extent, their own laws, providing they do not conflict with the white man's laws. The central figure in the Tama reservation now is a 16-year-old boy, Incey.

At the death of Man-mo-wa-ne-ka, the reigning chief of that period, his oldest son was selected by the council to be his successor, but the newly elected chief only lived one year. When this vacancy was caused the council together again to select a new war chief to reign over the destinies of the Musquakie nation. This time the mantle fell on the shoulders of Push-E-To-Soke-Qua, the present chief, who is the nephew and adopted son of the noted chief Pow-E-Shlek, after whom one of the counties of this state is named.

Immediate friends of the dead chief were not pleased with this action, so they formed another council and selected the youngest son of the dead Man-mo-wa-ne-ka, as the rightful person to serve as their monarch. Muck-quash-E-to, the man selected, at once distinguished himself by refusing to draw his annuities from the government. Two of his near friends followed his suit, and they maintained this attitude 20 years. The Indians of the more progressive mind rallied to the standard of Push-E-To-Soke-Qua while those who wished to remain and live as the great spirit created them gave their allegiance to Muck-quash-E-to. So the progressives have sent their children to the modern Indian school to accept him as their chief. He government school and lived in houses, but now he has the "standpat" Indians remain in the living close to nature and accepting feel the importance of his position, respect as their favorite home. There is a possibility of internal war five years ago Muck-quash-E-to in the tribe. Push-E-To-Soke-Qua is allied and those who had sworn fealty recognized as chief by the government to him set up his youngest son and ment.

EDWARD ENTWISTLE, WHO RAN THE FIRST LOCOMOTIVE EVER CONSTRUCTED.

Des Moines, Ia., March 21.—That railroad development has come within the memory of a living man and that man the one who fired the first engine that ever made a trip, serves to impress upon the mind the rapidity with which the world is advancing.

Edward Entwistle, who lives in this city and will celebrate his 63d birthday anniversary on March 21, fired the "Rocket," when it made its initial trip over the Liverpool & Manchester railway between these two points in England in the year 1825. That was the first steam railway engine ever to run over tracks. Mr. Entwistle a few years later came to America and Iowa. Fiftyone years ago he built a little cottage in this city where, with his aged wife, he lives to this day. Almost inveterate the door than the master locomotive of the modern railway. He recently took a ride in the coach of one of the giant engines and compared the luxury to the work he, with the first trip that demonstrated had on the "Rocket." Novel as was the practicality of steam locomotion, his trip he said it could not compare.

PROPOSED TYPE OF TORPEDO BOAT TO BE CARRIED ON HEAVY SHIPS OF WAR, DISPLACING THE SMALL LAUNCHES NOW IN USE—ARTHUR C. CHESTER, WHOSE PLANS FOR SMALL TORPEDO BOATS MAY REVOLUTIONIZE NAVAL WARFARE.

Arthur T. Chester, son of Rear Admiral Colby M. Chester, is devoting himself to the perfection of a type of torpedo boat which he claims will revolutionize naval warfare. This boat is much smaller than the ordinary torpedo boat and can be hoisted on board the men of war during a cruise. In times of peace this torpedo boat will be utilized to replace the small craft now used for transporting parties and many of the small boats could get from ship to ship or to the shore, in striking distance before being time of war, Mr. Chester claims, these would be of the utmost value as an adjunct to the navy. These small boats are a very different target, and it is claimed a superior fleet if attacked by a flotilla of these small torpedo boats, would be at a great disadvantage, for the attempt to hit this small target will therefore be light enough to handle easily on board the ships, would be only occasionally successful.

HACK A REAL LION.

World's Champion Wrestler Has Never Been Defeated.

HIS INTERESTING CAREER.

Russia's Strong Man Well Educated and Cultured and Clever in All Branches of Sport—Has Thrown His Opponents With Ease.

George Hackenschmidt, the world's champion wrestler, known as the "Russian Lion," who is to meet Frank Gotch, the American champion, in Chicago shortly, has had an interesting career. Born in Riga in 1877, the boy received an excellent education and at seventeen years of age was preparing himself in St. Petersburg for the career of a civil engineer when his youthful feats of strength began to attract attention. He was asked to visit Dr. Krasjowsky, a physician interested in physical culture, and was advised to take up wrestling as a profession.

This advice was not followed immediately on account of his studies. But about four years later Hackenschmidt made his professional debut. The wisdom of this course is apparent today. Modest and unassuming, the champion is a well read and cultured man, who speaks Russian, French, German and English with almost equal fluency.

Although he was born in the czar's country and is known as the "Russian Lion," no Russian blood courses through Hackenschmidt's veins. His father is a German, and his mother, who is a Swede, has relatives who have attained prominence as wrestlers, all around athletes and gymnasts.

Besides being a champion wrestler, Hackenschmidt is an expert swimmer, a crack cyclist and an accomplished gymnast and acrobat. He can box cleverly, can run a hundred yards in fast time and can clear the bar close to six feet with a short run.

Among the giants who have been thrown by Hackenschmidt is Nouroullah, the big Turk, who came over here a few years ago and defeated Tom Jenkins. The bout with Nouroullah was only a workout for the Russian. Then he wrestled the biggest Turk of all, Hall Adah. This individual weighed ed more than 500 pounds. He stood seven feet in his stocking feet. Adah gave Hackenschmidt something of a tussle and lasted more than an hour, but at last his shoulders were flattened to the mat. Kuro Ahmed was the next victim, and he was rather easy. Then came the sultan's favorite, Ahmed Madrali. He stood six feet two inches and weighed a trifle over 224 pounds. The match lasted only forty seconds, Hackenschmidt getting an arm hold that dislocated the Turk's shoulder.

GEORGE HACKENSCHMIDT, WORLD'S GREAT-EST WRESTLER.

Hackenschmidt's most recent bout was with Joe Rogers, whom he threw twice inside of fifteen minutes in England.

The "Russian Lion" stands five feet ten inches and weighs 210 pounds. His neck is phenomenally large, measuring 22 inches. His normal chest measurement is 48 inches and his chest expanded 52 inches. Other figures show: Biceps, 18½ inches; forearm, 14 inches; thigh, 27½ inches; calf, 17½ inches.

Frank Gotch has not had the educational advantages enjoyed by his rival, as he was born on a farm and when not engaged on the mat is himself a farmer, with a homestead just outside Humboldt, Ia.

He is about one inch and a half taller than Hackenschmidt, but this is a doubtful advantage in wrestling. He will give away from ten to fifteen pounds in weight and physically will be inferior to his rival in all points of important comparison.

BASEBALL NOTES.

The Pittsburg National league club has released W. P. Oney, a young pitcher, to the Rochester club. Oney was considered a star in the Virginia league last year.

Manager John McGraw is pleased with his bunch of young ball players. He says they are the greatest lot he has ever seen.

Low Willie, the pitcher recently reinstated by the national commission, has been signed by Manager Joe Bean for the Jersey City team.

"Wild Bill" Donovan, who has recently become widely known as "Smiling William," says he expects to do even better with his benders this year than last. Great for Detroit if he does.

DUKE OF ABRUZZI AND MISS ELKINS.

Washington, D. C., March 25.—Whether or not the Duke of Abruzzi was successful during his hurried visit to America in securing the consent of Miss Elkins to become his wife is not known. Rumor has it, however, that his return to Rome is to secure the consent of the royalty and the vatican to this marriage.

Dispatches from Rome show that the public press of Italy is greatly pleased with the idea and it is thought that the duke will meet with no opposition there.

NEW SENATOR IS ADMITTED.

Donato Accepts Smith of Maryland—Dealt Attacks President.

Washington, Mar. 27.—Although senators went to the capital Thursday expecting to devote their time to considering the currency bill, their attention was diverted to the credentials of Senator-elect John Walter Smith of Maryland. The result of a long debate was the admission of Mr. Smith to his seat. The currency bill was then taken up and amendments were considered.

More shifts of sarcasm and invective were aimed at President Roosevelt in the house of representatives. In one of the most scathing arraignments of a public officer ever heard in that chamber, Mr. Reall of Texas charged the president with having been guilty of "a disgusting usurpation of power," not only toward the national legislature, but the judiciary as well.

The agricultural appropriation bill was considered for amendment and when it was laid aside for the day there had been stricken out the provision for new weather stations in the states of Texas, Kansas, Virginia, Michigan, Vermont, Missouri and Indiana.

TRAVELING MEN KILL SELVES.

One Jumps Under Train, Another Uses Revolver.

Gallipolis, O., Mar. 27.—James O'Neal, a traveling man of Philadelphia, Pa., became deranged at Hildwell, near here, Thursday. Jumped under a Hoeking Valley train and was instantly killed. The body was brought here. O'Neal had been drinking, and is believed to have squandered considerable money.

ATTITUDE OF THE HOUSE MINORITY.

WILLIAMS STATES DEMOCRATS' POSITION ON MEASURES.

BILLS THEY WILL HELP

Seven Advocated by Roosevelt Have Their Support—Several Others That They Will Oppose.

Washington, Mar. 27.—Representative John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, as leader of the minority in the house of representatives, Thursday issued to the press a written statement defining precisely the attitude of the Democratic party in the house toward legislation urged by President Roosevelt in his messages to congress at the present session. The statement describes what Republican legislation the Democrats will support, what they will oppose and what concessions they demand on the part of the majority as the price of refraining from an organized filibuster throughout the remainder of the session.

Mr. Williams opens his statement by saying:

"Some things in the president's recent message are so immediately important to the interests of the entire country as to pass the bounds of partisanship and to make it excusable, if not necessary, for me to say something concerning them with the view of assuring the president himself and reasonably inclined Republican members of the house and the country of the support and endorsement, or the opposition of the Democratic minority. In so far as the things urged by the president are good things I would like the country to know that all he has to do is to deliver 30 or 25 Republican house votes in favor of them. These, conjoined with the solid Democratic votes, will put them through."

John Sharp Williams.

What Democrats Will Support.

Mr. Williams notes the following measures as ones which will "command virtually the solid Democratic vote within constitutional limits."

To compel publication of campaign contributions.

Prohibition of child labor in the District of Columbia and the territories.

An employers' liability law, drawn to conform to the recent decisions of the supreme court.

Federal liability to government employees.

A law to prohibit the issuance of injunctions without notice to the party enjoined.

Removal of the tariff on wood pulp and printing paper.

Imposition of a federal charge for every waterpower right granted on a navigable stream.

What They Oppose.

Those principles and measures urged by the president with which Mr. Williams, as minority leader, takes issue are intrusted as follows:

The penalizing of the boycott.

The right of attorney general to nominate receivers when common carriers are thrown into the hands of a receiver.

The modification of the Sherman anti-trust law so as to permit within limitation the maintenance of trusts and the making of trade agreements between combinations of capital.

The appointment of a commission to prepare data for a revision of the tariff.

Mr. Williams frankly states that he does not know whether a majority of the minority favors the creation of a permanent waterways commission.

Suicide from Brooklyn Bridge.

New York, Mar. 27.—A young man believed to be Edwin J. Dittmar, the 18-year-old son of a Brooklyn physician, jumped from the Brooklyn bridge Thursday and died a few minutes after he had been taken from the water.

Young Dittmar's mother said he had been dependent for several weeks because he had been unable to obtain employment and support himself independently.

New Hotel for Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Minn., Mar. 27.—J. E. Rogers, proprietor of the Rogers hotel of this city, Thursday announced his plans for the erection of a 16-story hotel at Fourth street and Nicollet avenue, at a cost exceeding $1,000,000. The building will contain 210 rooms.

Makes Collieries Safer.

A new safeguard for collieries is offered by the discovery of Prof. Elster and Geitel that freedamp contains six or seven times as much radium emanation as the ordinary air of coal mines. An aluminum foil electroscope quickly shows the difference of electrical conductivity due to the emanation, and this simple apparatus becomes an effective and important means of detecting danger.

Great Gale at Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., Mar. 27.—A gale of wind which reached a velocity of 55 miles an hour, swept over Cleveland Thursday. William Hammerstein, 66 years of age, was struck by a plank and fatally injured. The high seas on Lake Erie set adrift a fishing boat with four men. Their lives are in danger.

Kentucky Village Burned.

Louisville, Ky., Mar. 27.—Fire started by burning brush practically destroyed the central portion of the village of Greenville, ten miles north of Albany, Thursday. Greenville contains about 350 inhabitants.

Sharples Tubular Separator

makes

Gilt Edge Butter

There is profit-making feature about the right kind of centrifugal cream separator that must appeal strongly to any business-like dairyman or dairywoman. Butter made from cream skimmed by the right sort of centrifugal cream separator will often sell for twice as much, or even more, per pound than butter made from cream skimmed by using pans, crocks or cans. It is not good business to sell butter for ten or twelve cents per pound when it could just as well bring 25 to 35 cents if the skimming had been done with the right sort of centrifugal cream separator. The separator improves the cream by removing dirt and bacteria, and by overcoming the necessity of keeping the milk standing around exposed to the air. We give here a letter showing one man's gain in price as a result of improved quality:

TWICE THE PRICE FOR BUTTER

Castroville, Texas.

Gentlemen: This is to inform you that we purchased a Tubular Cream Separator last spring, with which we are well pleased. We are now selling our butter for 25 cents per pound, while a year ago we used to get but 10 cents and 12½ cents per pound for butter made in the old way by setting the milk in pans. And the same amount of milk produces more butter with the aid of a Tubular than it does by setting it in pans, especially in summer.

HOW MUCH SALARY ARE YOU WORTH?

That is the question asked by the employer of today. What can you do to earn it?

If you can do one thing well you are in demand all the time. Training is the one thing that is called for today. Not the general training of the "jack-of-all-trades," but the exact training of a specialist.

There is no excuse today why every man should not be an expert in the line of work he prefers.

The International Correspondence Schools have created the method by which this may be accomplished. This method is adapted to the requirements of working men and women who are now making low wages, who are tied down by home conditions or adverse circumstances, who see nothing in the future but monotonous toil.

It costs nothing but a penny stamp to find out how this can be done and places you under no obligation, but gives the I. C. S. an opportunity to show you how you can double or triple your present salary. Address:

Stoddard-Dayton
1907 Automobiles
$1800.00

We have a large number of wealthy customers who buy a new Stoddard-Dayton Car every year. You can profit by this as we have a few 1907 Model Stoddard-Dayton touring cars that have been used on the boulevards of Chicago less than one season.
Having overhauled them, we know that they are perfect, and we are willing to sell them at the above price and give you the same liberal guarantee as if you bought a new 1908 Model.
This guarantee holds good until October 1, 1909. These cars are fully equipped, have been repainted and it is hard to tell them from a new car.
Our guarantee is good with any one to whom we have sold a car.

TEAM CRASHED INTO AN INTERURBAN CAR

Pair of Valuable Bays Belonging to John Manthel Ran Away Last Night and One of Them
Was Killed.

In a runaway collision with the 9:15 southbound interurban car last evening, one of a valuable team of bays belonging to John Manthel of the town of Center was so badly injured that it died within a half hour and the other was badly cut and bruised. The animals were hitched to a top buggy and became frightened on River street just as the owner was preparing to get aboard and drive away. They dashed into Franklin street from Dodge and when the motorist on the stationary car heard the clatter and saw them heading directly for the bright electric headlight, he quickly withdrew into the main body of the coach. It was well that he did so, for in an instant they crashed into headlight and fender and metal outer-wall of the "pilot-house" with a sound which resembled the discharge of a cannon. The headlight was wrecked, the iron front stove in, and the air filled for a moment with particles of flying glass. The buggy was pitched to one side of the road and both horses were thrown down by the force of the impact. Only one of them was able to rise again and this one, badly thrashed and maddened, was captured in front of Acosta Field & Co's store on East Milwaukee street. The other succumbed to its injuries a short time thereafter.

M'NAMARA ELECTED
A VICE PRESIDENT

Janesville Man Chosen as Second Vice President of the National Retail Hardware Dealers' Assn.
H. L. McNamara was again honored by the National Retail Hardware Dealers' Association at their annual meeting in St. Louis, by being named as the second vice president of the organization. Last year Mr. McNamara was elected treasurer of the association and his choice as vice president is a token of the association's appreciation of his work as treasurer.
The next convention is to be held in Milwaukee, that city having been chosen from a list containing Chicago, Denver and Louisville, who had invited them to come to them.

LOCKJAW VICTIM
DIED LAST NIGHT

Thirteen-year-old Johnny Farrell, Who Was Accidentally Shot on March 17, Relieved of Suffering.

Death followed thirteen-year-old Johnny Farrell of his suffering long afternoon. He was a son of Mrs. Mary Farrell, who resides at No. 3 South Academy street, and was wounded on Tuesday, March 17, by a 22-caliber bullet which entered his back near the left hip. The accident occurred at a point half a mile north of the Crook brewery, the firearm carried by a youth named Cunningham being discharged in some unaccountable manner while Farrell was walking in front of him. Dr. George El-field probed for the bullet, but could not locate it and within the past day or two lockjaw set in. The sympathy of the entire community will go out to the bereaved mother.

council a total of 57 dogs whose owners, if they had any, failed to comply with the provisions, have been executed by the police. If there was a case of an epidemic of rabies, it seems to have been effectively stamped out by the prompt action of the city's guardians, no suspected cases having been reported for several weeks.

A CALCULATION.

Old Man—Yes—it's my birthday today, Pat. Guess how old I am.
Pat—How old, behead! Pat, you look old enough to be your own father!
Ally Sloper.

THIS BEST OF REASONS.

Dr. Palmer of Janesville was down
last night in consultation with Dr.
Thomas at the bedside of Dr. Griswold, who is again very low.

Dr. Treat of Sharon was here Tuesday in consultation with Dr. Parker at the bedside of Miss Allie Gates, who is critically ill at the home of her grandparents, C. M. Treat and wife.

Chas. Daerling, who accidentally shot himself, is getting along very nicely and now strong hopes are entertained for his ultimate recovery.

SEED COMPANY MAY MOVE FROM CLINTON

Has Received Many Good Offers to Rebuild Factory in Other Cities.

Clinton, March 26.—H. W. Conley, who has been tied in the quarry for years, now that he is free, contemplates taking a trip during the summer, and is also making of building on the avenue before the season is over.

H. A. Anderson is again able to be out and around, and some of his friends are talking of him as village thresher for the coming year. That he would make a good one there is no question.

W. C. Bradley is again home from a few weeks spent at the Hot Springs.
Miss Mabel Rogers has been visiting her many Clinton friends for the past few days.

The remains of Rev. Joseph Anderson were brought here for burial on Tuesday. He came here in 1851 and bought what has since been known as the German farm, which then included all the lots along the west side of Church street and north of the Milwaukee road, now known as Anderson's addition to the village of Clinton. In 1852 he joined the Wisconsin conference of the M. E. church.

His first charge was at Milton, until within a few years he had been an active pastor of that denomination and made the church here a pre-scent of the land upon which its church and parsonage now stand and from which his funeral was held. His first wife was a Miss Colegrove, a sister of Mrs.
DeWolfe of this place. Of late he had been making his home with his only remaining son at Rhinelander, at which place he died.

Miss Anna Smith spent a portion of the past week with friends in Delaware.

The Congregational society is making great preparations for the fifteenth anniversary, to be held here on Sunday and Monday. Several of the former pastors and many of the oldtime members are expected to be present and assist in the exercises. An interesting program has been prepared for the occasion.

His many friends will be very sorry to learn that C. L. Hanson, a town, and are to have an auction of their household goods on Thursday next week. They have been highly respected residents of this place for some forty years, and there are a whole lot of people whom our place could better spare than they. He is thinking of going west and settling in some of the new and growing towns.

Of late Dr. Griswold has been quite sick again, but a few days ago suffered a relapse and is again very poorly.

Mrs. Crotsenburg had been considerably better for a short time past, but for a few days has again been much worse again.

Mrs. Mary Dickman is a new addition to the sick list.

For the past day or two H. W. Che-ver has been having a severe hemorrhage of the nose, an attack similar to the one he had in Madison just about a year ago, the loss of blood being very large.

Miss Allie Gates has been very sick for the past few days.

His numerous schoolmates and friends here will be sorry to learn that M. E.
Northrup is seriously ill with hemorrhage of the stomach.

Byron Snyder is now busy fixing up his new city property, which he proposes to make one of the most desirable places in town.

Mrs. Nettie Scott and children have lately been visiting in Rhinepole.

C. L. Hanson has sold his home on Cross street to Frank McFee.

The venerable C. E. Graves is contemplating moving to Clinton and was in town Thursday looking over the different houses that are for sale. Mr.
Graves certainly will receive a hearty welcome.

Shirley Inman and James Raymond are also contemplating moving here to live.

Hon. S. S. Jones is putting in a gas system in his beautiful country home on Milwaukee road. Mr. Jones is putting in a complete system and intends to use gas for cooking as well as lighting.

S. S. Jones has given up all hopes of becoming president of the United States and expects to live and die a farmer and intends to have everything handy and convenient.

The L. L. Olds Seed company is receiving every day very flattering offers from different commercial clubs of other cities to locate in their respective places when they get squared round ready to rebuild. Clinton will certainly have to keep awake or she is liable to lose the biggest and best institution it has ever had or is liable to have. More capital is needed and has been offered in plenty by these people who seem to be alive to the possibilities of this concern which has established an enviable reputation for honesty and square dealing the business is growing by leaps and bounds and is bound to grow to an immense concern.

Politics is very quiet here, more so in fact than for many years. The fight between the wets and drys is being carried on along different lines this spring. Instead of whoop and hurrah and whistling campaign which the drys have used every year there being a quiet, earnest, hard heart to heart fight which is bound to tell and somebody is liable to be surprised—yes.

Dr. Palmer of Janesville was down

tertained for his ultimate recovery.

AEBLY WAS FINED
$400 AND COSTS

And Will Have to Defend a $10,000 Damage Suit Brought by Seller.

Monroe, Wis., March 27.—The annual convention of the Green County Sunday School association will be held at the M. E. church in this city on Thursday and Friday, April 9 and 10. It is expected that every Sunday school in the county will be represented either by pastor, superintendent, other officers or adult members. W.
J. Senneville, general secretary, will be here to assist in the convention.

Jacob Aebly of Exeter township, who was found guilty of assault with intent to do great bodily harm upon Robert Seidler, a cheese-maker, was fined $400 and the costs of the action by Judge Grimm. The judge was of the opinion that the crime justified the maximum punishment, three years in prison, but took the interests of the family into consideration in inflicting punishment. Aebly will now be called upon to defend a $10,000 damage action that has been brought by his victim.

A jury in the circuit court again awarded John Kunder a compensation of $100 claimed for the sale of the Fred Feldt farm. The same verdict by a former jury was set aside on the ground that improper evidence was admitted.

The circuit court is now engaged in the trial of the personal injury case brought by W. H. Osterlander against the city of Milwaukee. Damages to the amount of $500 are claimed because of a fall on an alleged defective sidewalk.

The directors of the Green County Agricultural society elected Roy Jacobson, proprietor of the Monroe Steam laundry, a director in place of Willis Lindley, resigned.

Homer Blumhagen left yesterday for his home in Denver.

Attorney Wm. Smith is here from court.

sented by the Winning Brothers, reperative company before another large audience at the Myers theatre last evening. Charles Winniger gave a splendid delineation of the title role and the support throughout was excellent. "Toll-Date Inn," said to be one of the strongest offerings of the present season, will be presented tonight and "Clover Dale" is the bill for

A Test Package Mailed Free.

A new product—Dr. Shoop's Health
Coffee—is said to so closely match Old Java and Mocha Coffee in flavor, taste, and aroma, as to be scarcely discernible from the very best brands of real Coffee.
"And yet," says Dr. Shoop, "Health Coffee has not even a grain of real Coffee in it."
It is made by Coffee Initiation from pure, healthful, roasted grains or cereals, with malt, nuts, etc. This is why I have named it Health Coffee.

Again, the tedious 20 or 30 minutes wait necessary in preparing other Coffee substitutes is mostly saved. My new Health Coffee Initiation is made in exactly one minute—in 60 seconds.

If Coffee drinking makes you dull and

THE VEGETABLE CATERPILLAR, SHOWING THE ROCK-LIKE FUNGUS GROWTH.

The caterpillar, which the Moors call "Awheto," is distinctly animal in appearance, and distinctly vegetable in growth. It is the larva of a large moth which frequents the rata tree. It retreats to leaf mould for its chrysalis state. A fungus transforms all the animal tissue into fungoid substance, and then, finding no more food, sends up a seed-bearing bulrush stalk towards the light. Then it produces spores, which infect other caterpillars. These spores are visible in the magnified section.

PECULIAR PROPERTIES OF NEW MEDICINE

Cooper Preparation Attracts Widespread Attention by Expelling Internal Parasites.

The interest created in leading cities during the past year by young Mr. Cooper with his new preparation, is largely accounted for by a peculiar quality possessed by this medicine, which he calls his New Discovery. Mr. Cooper believes that internal parasites, or tapeworms, are responsible for much ill health, and it is an undoubted fact that his medicine has expelled immense numbers of these creatures in various cities visited by him. The young man also believes that stomach trouble is the main cause of all ill health. He claims that few can have poor health with a good digestion. He further claims that his New Discovery medicine does nothing but tone up the stomach, yet it not only expels the parasites, but relieves many other ailments not as a rule associated with stomach trouble. Little Jessie Birdsell, daughter of Mrs. Ida Birdsell, living at 2138 Carroll Avenue, Chicago, is among many relieved of a large parasite by Mr. Cooper's preparation during his stay in that city. In speaking of the matter to Mr. Cooper, the mother said: "My child Jessie, who is fourteen years old, has been suffering with this trouble for over seven years. Until this morning we did not know what the trouble was. She was extremely nervous; the least little thing would upset her; her tongue was coated, and at times she would have a good appetite, then again could not bear the sight of food; she was restless at night, had a bad breath, especially when she got up in the morning. We tried everything to relieve her, but not with success. We were just on the point of giving up trying anything else, when we began to read of Cooper's New Discovery. Several days ago we purchased this medicine, and this morning this parasite left her system. I don't wonder that she has always felt bad, and nothing would give her seemed to relieve her. Now that she is relieved of this tapeworm I feel sure that she will grow better each day, and enjoy perfect health. Mr. Cooper, your medicine is worth a thousand times more than you charge for it. I know of a number of people troubled the same way as Jessie has been, and I certainly expect to tell them personally to try your medicine." We would advise anyone who has been troubled for some time with general poor health to try this great medicine. We are glad for it in this city. —E. B. Helmetre.

CHAPTER XXIX.

WITHIN half an hour the gig had reached the mouth of the cave. As the cockswain had predicted, the sea ran into the lofty entrance. Elsewhere the surf fell whitely, but through the arch the waves rolled unbroken into a heavy stillness. Only as the boat hovered for a moment at the face of the cliff could the exploring party hear, far within, the hollow boom that told of breakers on a distant subterranean beach. "Run her in easy," came the captain's order. "Keep a sharp lookout for hidden rocks."

To the whispering plash of the oars they moved from sunlight into twilight, from twilight into darkness. Of a sudden the oars jerked convulsively. A great roar had broken upon the ears of the sailors. The invisible roof above them, the water heaving beneath them, the walls that hemmed them in, called with a multiplication of resonance upon the name of Darrow. The boat quivered with the start of its occupants. Then one or two laughed weakly as they realized that what they had heard was no supernatural voice. It was the captain hallooing for the marooned man.

No vocal answer came, but an intolerable space away they could hear a low splash, followed by a second and a third. Something coughed weakly in front and to the right. Treadon's hand went to his revolver. The men sat stiffened. One of them swore in a whisper.

"Silence in the boat," said the captain in such urgent tones that the men braced themselves against the expected peril.

"Tight the lantern and pass it to me," came the order. "Keep below the gunwale, men."

As the match spluttered, "Do you see something a few rods to port?" asked the captain in Treadon's ear.

"Pair of green lights," said Treadon. "Eyes, Seals?"

"Seals! Seals! Seals!" shouted the walls, for the surgeon had suddenly released his voice. And as the mockery boomed the green lights disappeared, and there was more splashing from the distance. The crew sat up again.

The lantern spread its radiance. It was reflected from battlements of fairy beauty. Everywhere the walls were set, as with gems, in broad waves of varied and vivid hues. Dazzled at first, the explorers soon were able to discern the general nature of the subterranean world which they had entered. In most places the walls rose sheer and unscalable from the water. In others turreted rocks thrust their gleaming crests upward. Over to starboard a little bench shone with Quaker grayness in that spectacular display. The end of the cavern was still beyond the area of light.

"Must have been a swimmer to get in here," commented Treadon, glancing at the walls.

"Unless he had a boat," said the captain. "But why doesn't he answer?"

"Better try again. No telling how much more there is of this."

The surgeon raised his ponderous brow, and the cave roared again with the summons. Silence, formidable and unbroken, succeeded.

"House to house search is now in order," he said. "Must be in here somewhere unless the seals got him."

Continuously the boat moved forward. Once she grazed on a half submerged rock. Again a tiny belt loomed before her. Scattered bones glistened on the rocky shore, but they were not human relics. Occasionally, beaches, tempted a landing, but all of these led back to precipitous cliffs except one, from the side of which opened two small caves. Into the first the lantern cast its glare, revealing emptiness, for the arch was wide and the cave shallow. The entrance to the other was so narrow as to send a visitor to his knees. But inside it seemed to open out. Moreover, there were fish bones at the entrance. The captain, the surgeon and Congdon, the cockswain, landed. Captain Parkinson reached the spot first. Stooping, he thrust his head in at the orifice. A sharp exclamation broke from him. He rose to his feet, turning a contorted face to the others. "Poisonous," he cried.

"More volcanic," said Treadon. He bent to the black hole and sniffed cautiously.

"I'll go in, sir," volunteered Congdon. "I've had fire practice."

"My business," said Treadon briefly. "Decomposition; unpleasant, but not dangerous."

Pushing the lantern before him, he wormed his way until the light was blotted out. Presently it shone forth from the funnel, showing that the explorer had reached the inner open space. Captain Parkinson dropped down and peered in, but the evil odor was too much for him. He retired, gagging and coughing. Treadon was gone for what seemed an interminable time. His superior officer waited uneasily. At last he could stand it no longer.

"Dr. Treadon, are you all right?" he shouted.

"Yup," answered a choked voice. "Cubbling out now."

Again the funnel was darkened. A pair of feet appeared, then the surgeon's chunky trunk, his head and the lantern. Once, twice and thrice he inhaled deeply.

"Phew!" he gasped. "Thought I was tough, but phoo-ee-ee-ew!"

"Did you find?"

"No, sir. Not Darrow. Only a poor devil of a seal that crawled in there to die."

The exploration continued. Half a mile, as they estimated, from the open they reached a narrow beach shut off by a perpendicular wall of rock. Skirting this, they returned on the other side, minutely examining every possible crevice. When they again reached the light of day they had arrived at the certain conclusion that no living man was within those walls.

"Would a corpse rise to the surface soon in waters such as these, Dr. Treadon?" asked the captain.

"Might, sir. Might not. No telling that."

The captain ruminated. Then he beat his fist on his knee.

"The other cave?"

"What other cave?" asked the surgeon.

"The cave where they killed the seals."

"Surely!" exclaimed Treadon. "Wait, though. Didn't Slade say it was between here and the point?"

"Yes. Beyond the small beach."

"No cave there," declared the surgeon positively.

"There must be, Congdon, did you see an opening anywhere in the cliff as we came along?"

"No, sir. This is the only one, sir."

"We'll see about that," said the captain grimly. "Head her about. Skirt the shore as near the breakers as you safely can."

The gig retraced its journey. "There's the beach, as Slade described it," said Captain Parkinson as they came abreast of the little reach of sand.

"And what are those two black roasts on it?" asked Treadon. "See 'em? Dead against that patch of shore weed."

"Hills of wreckage fixed in the sand."

"Don't think so, sir. Too well matched."

"We have no time to settle the matter now," said the captain impatiently. "We must find that cave if it is to be found."

Hovering just outside the final drag of the surf, under the skillful guidance of Congdon, the boat moved slowly along the line of beach to the line of cliff. All was open as the day. The blazing sun picked out each detail of jut and hollow. Evidently the poisonous vapors from the volcano had not spread their blight here, for the face of the precipice was bright with many flowers. So close in moved the boat that its occupants could even see butterflies fluttering above the bloom. But that which their eager eyes sought was still denied them. No opening offered in that smiling cliffside. Not by so much as would admit a terrier did the maw of rock and rubble gape.

"And Slade described the cave as big enough to run the Wolverine into," muttered Treadon.

Up to the point of the headland and back passed the boat. Blank disappointment was the result.

"What is your opinion now, Dr. Treadon?" asked the captain of the older man.

"Don't know, sir," answered the surgeon hopelessly. "Looks as if the cave might have been a hallucination."

"I shall have something to say to Mr. Slade on our return," said the captain emphatically. "If the cave was a hallucination, as you suggest, the seal murder was fiction."

"Looks so," agreed the other.

"And the murder of the captain. How about that?"

"And the mutiny of the men," added the surgeon.

"The killing of the doctor. Your patient seems to be a romantic genius."

"And the escape of Darrow. Hold hard," quoth Treadon. "Darrow's no romance. Nothing fictional about the flag and ledger."

"True enough," said the captain and fell to consideration.

"Anyway," said Treadon vigorously, "I'd like to have a look at those bird roasts. Mightly like sign posts to my mind."

"Very well," said the captain. "I'll cost us only a wetting. Run her in, Congdon."

With all the cockswain's skill and the oarsmen's technique, the passage of the surf was a lively one, and little dribbles of water marked the trail of the officers as they shuffled up the beach.

The two snobs stood less than fifty yards beyond high water tide. Nearing them, the visitors saw that each marked a mound, but not until they were close up could they read the neat carving on the first. It ran as follows:

Here lies SOLOMON ANDERSON alias HANBY SOLOMON who murdered his employer, his captain and his shipmates and was found dead of his wounds on these shores, June 5, 1881.

This slab is erected as a memento of admiring esteem by the last of his victims.

"And you can kiss the book on that," "Percy Darrow felt," said the surgeon. "You can kiss the book on that too."

"Then Slade was telling the truth!" "Apparently. Seems good corroborated."

The captain turned to the other mound. Its slab was carved by the same hand.

Recall to the memory of an ensign of the United States navy, whose body washed upon this coast, is here buried ELECTION NOTICE.

Office of City Clerk,
City of Janesville, Wis.,
March 26, 1908.

To the Electors of the City of Janesville:
Notice is hereby given that a municipal election is to be held in the several wards and election precincts, in the city of Janesville, on the seventh day of April, 1908, at which officers named below are to be chosen:

A city treasurer.
A city attorney.
A school commissioner-at-large.
A justice of the peace for the full term and a justice of the peace to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Charles W. Reeder.

An alderman, supervisor and constable in each ward.
A school commissioner in the Second and Fourth wards.

The polls in the several wards will be open at 6 o'clock a. m., and close at 7 o'clock p. m.

The polling places in the several wards are located as follows:
First ward—In the street commissioner's room, in the basement, in the northeast corner of the city hall building.

Second ward—Building owned by Thoroughgood & Co., at the northwest corner of Fourth avenue and North Main street.

Third ward—Building owned by city on Racine street east of and near engine. He married and had a comfortable little home. This may have been one of the causes of his success. While his fellow workmen were reveling nights and spending their hard-earned money, a light burned until late hours in the fireman's home. A peep into the window would have disclosed the coal miner bending over a book. About 10 years ago he shook off

By order of the common council.

City Clerk.

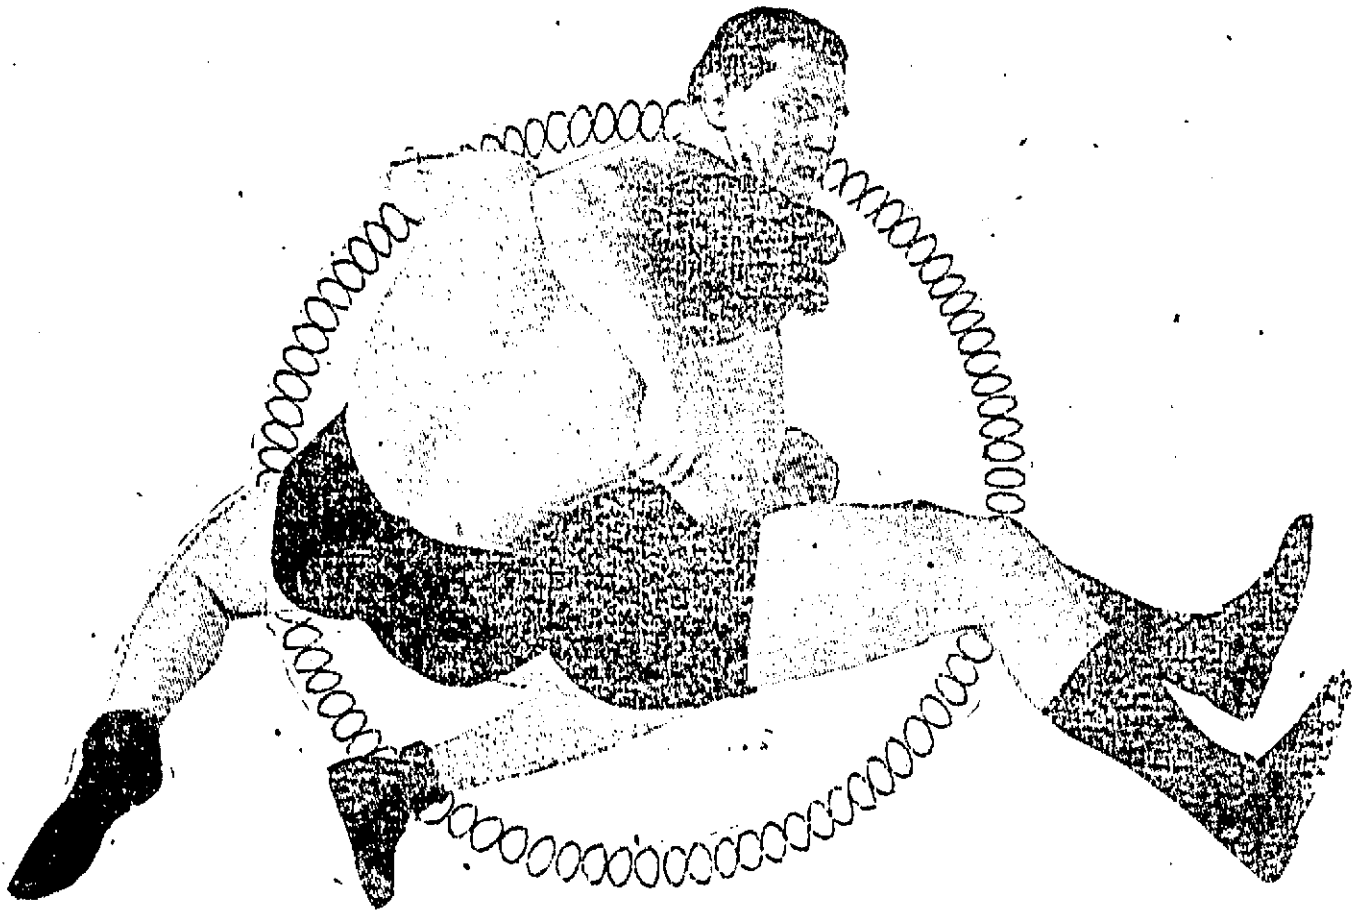

RHEUMATISM

BODY RACKED WITH PAIN

No other disease causes such wide-spread suffering as Rheumatism. It is a nerve racking torture, and so thoroughly does it dominate the system, when it becomes entrenched in the blood, that its victims are usually complete slaves to pain. Rheumatism is due to an excess of uric acid in the blood brought on by stomach troubles, weak kidneys, indigestion, and a sluggish condition of the system. The natural refuse of the body, instead of passing off through the ordinary channels of waste, is left to sour and ferment in the system because of these irregularities, forming uric acid which is absorbed into the blood, and Rheumatism gets a foothold. As the blood circulates through the body it deposits the acid, irritating substances with which it is saturated, into the different muscles, nerves, tissues and bones. Sharp, biting pains commence, the flesh becomes feverish, swollen and tender, the muscles and joints throb and jerk, and the body is literally racked with pain. Plasters, blisters, liniments, etc., can never cure the disease; they relieve the pain, perhaps, temporarily, but do not reach the trouble, which is in the blood. S. S. S. is the proper treatment for Rheumatism. It goes down and attacks the disease at its head, and by driving out the poison and acid which are causing the pain, and strengthening and enriching the blood, cures Rheumatism permanently. S. S. S. is the greatest of all blood purifiers, just what is needed in every case of Rheumatism. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.
